During Elba Board of Education meeting

Changes to student dress code clarified

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

The Elba City School Board meeting opened last Tuesday evening with a host of new teachers being introduced to the board members.

Some of the new staff members are no strangers to the Elba school system, having previously served on the staff and/or they are products of the Elba system themselves. New to the Elba Elementary School this year are: Kim Lowery and Stephanie Barry - 1st Grade; Ashlee Cowen - 4th Grade; Lynn Freaney - Special Education Aide; Patricia Jordan - Library Aide; and Michelle Simpson - Computer Lab Aide.

New faces at Elba High School include: Kevin Killingsworth - Assistant Principal; Shane Casey - Assistant Principal/Advanced Math; Bryan Peacock - Science/Head Girls Basketball Coach; Chastity Williams - Special Education/Asst. Coach; Will Pierce - Band Director; Yvette Akridge - Math; Kizzy Lovelace - English; Mickey Jacobs - Science/Coach; Cindy Pettie - Math; Leigh Ryan - English and Rudy Free - P.E./Coach.

Superintendent Danny Weeks reviewed the monthly financial statement, noted reserves were finally back up to state recommended levels and told board members, "we are in good shape financially."

Weeks further detailed plans to put some additional $200,000 back into the school system. These funds will replace federal special education funds which have been cut; add physical education aid and address needed funding to the school nurse program.

The separate fund for the school lunch program (CNP) is in excellent shape said Weeks. He also explained how the new policy on snacks will impact the local schools. No soft drinks will be sold during lunch hours but the drink vending machines will still be in the schools.

The board members were given copies of the new student code of conduct and changes in the 39 page document were explained in detail. Changes were made in the dress code, internet access rules and penalties for attempting to bypass installed security software, as was cell phone usage.

The cell phone policy was also adopted in a free standing written policy. It "prohibits student use of all electronic devices including cell phones, pagers and beepers at both schools during the school day. This includes using cell phones to make voice calls, to take photos, and to send or receive text messages."

The changes in the student dress code clarify that pants, shorts and skirt pockets must be visible. Shirts or tops that extend below the bottom of the natural pocket level must be tucked into pants, shorts or skirts. Shirts or tops that expose the midriffs, sleeveless shirts or tops for male students, shirts or tops worn by female students that expose undergarments or are immodest, strapless tops, mesh tops, immodestly tight and revealing tops are not allowed.

No facial or tongue jewelry is allowed and earrings are not allowed for male students. The handbook also limits (or bans completely) other types of clothing. Facial hair is permitted but must be "maintained in a neat and orderly appearance". Bedroom shoes/house slippers are not allowed but students must wear shoes.

Several new faces will greet Elba City School students Monday, Aug. 7, when the 2006-07 school term begins. Many of these new staff members were in attendance Tuesday, July 25, for the Elba City School Board meeting to be introduced to board members. The new staffers seem ready and eager to begin the school year as employees of the Elba City School System and received a warm welcome.

Future of Dorsey Trailer plant remains uncertain

The future of the closed Dorsey Trailer plant in Elba continues to hang in limbo.

Tuesday morning, Aug. 1, Elba Mayor James Grimes reported that the prospective buyer from Colorado did not meet the Friday, July 28, deadline for posting the agreed amount of money with the Middle District, U. S. Bankruptcy Court in Montgomery.

The mayor said he now understands a conference call is planned soon between court officials and lawyers in the bankruptcy case to possibly set a date for a court hearing to decide if they are to convert the company's bankruptcy case to Chapter 7.

Such a court decision would put the assets of the company up for absolute sale to the highest bidder at public auction.

Several old houses in New Brockton have recently been marked by a yellow "X". This marking signifies structures scheduled for demolition and clearance. Bids for Phase I of this CDBG project were opened Tuesday, July 25, and the New Brockton Town Council is expected to award the project to the low bidder during the Monday, Aug. 7, monthly meeting.

Bids opened for demolition and clearance project in New Brockton

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Town of New Brockton officials opened bids Tuesday, July 25, for the Demolition and Clearance of Public Nuisances project.

The CDBG project calls for the demolition and clearance of specified structures considered public nuisances.

According to New Brockton Town Clerk Annette Williams, there were seven bidders for the project, and the low bid came from Danny's Dozer and Excavator Service of Elba. She said he has been certified as a responsible bidder, and the New Brockton Town Council is expected to vote Monday, Aug. 7, during the regular monthly meeting to award the bid.

Williams said this bid is for Phase I of the project and includes 10 houses. After the bid is officially awarded by the town council, she said the bidder has 75 days to complete the demolition and clearance.

This project is at no cost to the landowner, and Williams said the approved bidder will tear down the structure, haul away all debris and clear the land. She said, if needed, sod will even be replaced.

Even more structures are slated for demolition and clearance in Phase II of the project, but that phase is currently being held up because some landowners have not yet signed the proper paperwork. Once all paperwork is complete, Williams said Phase II will be ready to move forward.

A RIBBON CUTTING CEREMONY is planned Thursday, Aug. 3 (tonight), at 6 p.m., at New Brockton High School celebrating the completion of the long-awaited building renovation project. The outside of the school building has been restored to its original look. School officials seem very excited to have this project complete and will hold the ribbon cutting in conjunction with the school's annual Open House prior to the beginning of the new school year. The Open House will be from 4-7 p.m. At 7 p.m., the Coffee County Board of Education will hold the regular monthly board meeting at New Brockton High School. The 2006-07 school term will begin Monday, Aug. 7.

New Brockton's Tyler Street project seems to be moving forward

by Linda Hodge, Editor

When officials closed Tyler Street (County Road 533) in New Brockton in May of 2005, no one really expected it to be closed for more than a year.

Now a year and three months later, New Brockton Town Clerk Annette Williams said she receives calls every week from citizens wondering when the road is going to be reopened. She said her answer has become very routine as she informs those interested citizens that the project is waiting on Polyengineering and the Department of Transportation.

The closure of the road was forced by extensive erosion damage (at the gully below the chicken houses) due to Hurricane Ivan and other heavy rains. Before this closure, Williams said FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) used funds a couple other times to "patch" the problem area. This time, though, she said the project is considered a mitigation project meaning enough funds have been designated FEMA to fix the problem rather than patch it.

On Monday, July 31, State Representative Terry Spicer and State Senator Jimmy Holley said they expect the Alabama DOT to approve bids in the next few weeks to finally repair Tyler Street. The project originally was expected to be completed by August, but it kept getting pushed back.

Both Spicer and Holley expressed concerns about the delays. They have been working

"I have great concerns for the safety of the citizens of New Brockton," Spicer said. The loss of Tyler Street has created a

Work began recently to construct the above shown fence at the Evergreen Cemetery in Elba. No official word has been released regarding the source of funding behind the new fence; but, it is being constructed at no cost to the City of Elba. Hopefully, more information will be available at a later date.

Since the surge in gasoline prices there has been a lot of hype about the new biodiesel and/or ethanol plants going up all around the U.S. Apparently it is a lot easier right now to get financing for these facilities than for a grocery store, car manufacturing plant or... say... a newspaper. This week we saw an announcement of a new biodiesel refinery to be built at Castleberry, near Evergreen. That is almost right next door to Coffee County, in Conecuh County, some 40/45 miles to our West. This plant is projected to cost $10 million, will employ 24 people at first and could work up to 80 as it gets up to speed. They will use soybean oil as the base for the biodiesel fuel. This should add an additional market (and a better price to the growers) for Alabama grown soybeans. We sure would like to write about such a plant being built in Coffee County.

While on that subject, the higher gasoline prices should make some company interested in the methane gas being automatically generated at the Coffee County landfill. Right now it is going unused but should be a gold mine of profit for a smart company manager.

Last week we had a letter to the editor begging for help in finding the exact location of the grave of James "Horace" Stanton. It is heartwarming to report that the letter got results and the grave has been properly marked. Someone saw the letter on Wednesday afternoon, called the funeral home and the marker was installed on Thursday. To those who helped this family, be assured they are elated and so are we. They have a warm feeling to now know where their family member is buried. We are grateful to have had a small part in making the connection with those who knew the whereabouts of the burial site.

H.R. 1898, which would repeal the 3% federal excise tax on telecommunications, a 108-year-old "temporary" tax enacted to fund the Spanish-American War is moving forward in the U.S. House. A majority of the House (208 members) is now cosponsoring the legislation. It is probably designed that way, but the House bill to repeal the tax is H.R. 1898 and the tax was enacted in 1898. A bit catchy for those who know the history of this tax which surely helped confirm the idea that no tax is temporary.

Tennessee Valley Authority has announced a 4.5 percent reduction in wholesale electric rates which will take effect Oct. 1. This move will not directly impact homeowners nor businesses in this area. However it would not be wrong to hold out hope that wholesale rates from suppliers in this area will follow and South Alabama folks can also enjoy a bit of savings on energy. While 4.5 percent cuts might not seem like a lot, if one looks at it the other way... as an increase, we would surely be howling!

Enterprise native completes Congressional internship in Senator Richard Shelby's office

This June, U.S. Senator Richard C. Shelby (R-Ala.) welcomed Beth Sellers of Montgomery, Alabama as an intern in his Washington, D.C. office. Beth is the daughter of Bill and Roylene Sellers, also of Enterprise.

While in Washington, D.C., Beth had the opportunity to perform constituent services, assist with legislative projects, work in the press department, and give tours of the Capitol building. Beth also had the opportunity to watch action on the Senate floor and a hearing of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Development.

Beth said, "I really enjoyed my internship in Senator Shelby's office. It gave me a better understanding of the activities of our government and the inner-workings of the political process."

Beth is currently a senior at the University of Alabama, where she is majoring in public relations. Senator Shelby said, "The Congressional Internship Program is an important complement to these students' academic studies. Their experiences help bring to life what they have studied in the classroom. The internships foster a fuller, richer understanding of our government's legislative process, while providing a first-hand view of public service."

"Many times, interning in our nation's capital inspires and motivates young people to one day seek elected office or work as public servants. I know the bright, energetic students who assisted me during June will go on to achieve great things, whether in Washington, D.C. or elsewhere."

Shelby's Congressional Internship Program is open to college students and recent graduates who exhibit an interest in government and public service.

Rep. Terry Spicer encourages citizens to take advantage of sales tax holiday

State Representative Terry Spicer of Elba is encouraging people in Coffee County to take advantage of the state's first sales tax holiday that begins at 12:01 a.m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Spicer helped draft the bill during the 2005 Regular Session of the Alabama Legislature that created the sales tax holiday aimed primarily at back-to-school purchases. "The Coffee County tax holiday will save consumers 8 percent on back-to-school purchases," said Spicer. "Not only will this help families, it will also benefit businesses in Coffee County."

Spicer said the following items are covered by the tax holiday:

Clothing: $100 or less, per article of clothing.

Computers: computer software.

NAM salutes vote to address economic and energy security

The National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) recently commended Senators Jeff Sessions and Richard Shelby for voting to proceed with debate on safely unlocking America's energy supply in the Gulf of Mexico. NAM President John Engler hailed the vote as a "critical step toward addressing America's growing energy crisis, and lower energy costs for all consumers."

The Senate agreed to debate on S.711, the Gulf of Mexico Energy Security Act, which opens leasing in 8.3 million acres of the Gulf of Mexico to safe energy exploration and development.

"Clearly Alabama's Senators recognize that at a time when prices are at all-time highs and energy development is easier and safer, there is no reason the U.S. should continue shooting itself in the foot," Engler said.

PASTOR'S CORNER Rev. Ron Stallard Pastor of Elba Church of God

Receive all God has for us in his fullness of grace

Many times we set our goals low, not realizing God wants us to have all we can according to His riches in Glory. Many times we are talked out of Gods ability to hear our prayers and fulfill His promises. We need to understand life is short but eternity is forever. God away I am convinced that He is not finished with man. He still is able to save souls, heal broken hearts and put broken bodies back together again. Impossible becomes possible with God. The Bible warns us not to listen to mans reasoning and commit ourselves to the Fullness of Jesus Christ our Lord and savior.

Col 2:8 Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.

9 For in him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. 10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power:

Be complete and let Jesus bring to a true realization all He has for us. The Father the Son and the Holy Spirit.

Box turtles in Alabama

By Bennett Moseley, Wildlife Biologist, Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources

Box turtles are common in most parts of Alabama, even though there has been a decline in population numbers in recent decades. They can often be observed after a summer rain along rural roadsides and near forested areas. Box turtles have a unique, hinged plastron—the lower portion of the shell—that allows the turtle to close its shell almost completely, providing an excellent escape from any would-be predators.

Two of the most common subspecies in Alabama are the Eastern box turtle (Terrapene carolina) and the Gulf Coast box turtle (Terrapene carolina major). The Eastern box turtle is usually four to six inches long with four toes and a brightly marked upper shell, or carapace. The Gulf Coast box turtle is the largest of these subspecies measuring five to seven inches in length with four toes. The carapace is usually an olive drab and not as brightly marked. Both subspecies have steep, keeled, high domed upper shells with variable markings. Their jaws are slightly hooked and the

are only slightly webbed. Males of both subspecies can usually be distinguished from females by the concave depression found on the lower shell or plastron. Males are usually larger and have thicker, longer tails. They will normally have red irises while females have yellowish-brown irises. Both males and females occupy woodlands and pastures and are often found near streams or ponds.

Mating season usually begins in the spring and continues throughout the summer. Males have been known to mate with several different females or one female several times over a period of years. It is possible for a female to lay fertile eggs up to four years after a successful mating. Both Eastern box turtles and Gulf Coast box turtles have distinct courtship rituals. Nesting usually occurs from May to July. A nest is usually dug in sandy soil using the egg hinds legs of the female. Eggs are carefully laid in the nest and covered. Clutch sizes vary from three to eight eggs and females may lay several clutches each year. Incubation is usually three months but can vary depending on soil temperature.

Box turtles are long-lived reptiles and may live for more than a hundred years. They are consumed for food; however, they are dangerous to eat because their diet consists of mushrooms that may be toxic to humans. These toxins may remain in their flesh for long periods. Box turtles are omnivorous and feed on insects as well as berries, fungi, worms, roots, slugs, flowers, frogs, salamanders and snakes. They will eat eggs indiscriminately and have been observed eating carrion.

Population numbers of these turtles have been declining in recent decades largely due to habitat destruction. Much of the loss can be attributed to residential construction, highways, and commercial developments. LeAnn Rimes, the international spokesperson for Children's Miracle Network, will serve as honorary chairperson for the Dairy Queen Miracle Treat Day, Aug. 10, as we raise money for this very worthy cause.

Alabama has adopted regulations protecting many animals, including box turtles, against this illegal trade. These regulations make it unlawful to offer for sale or trade anything of value for any box turtle, box turtle part or reproductive product. This is definitely a step in the right direction and it is hoped that future research on habitat and environmental needs will further protect these subspecies of box turtles. In the meantime, a kind act such as safely removing one from the road might go a long way in preserving these animals for future generations.

Wiregrass United Way kicks off Pacesetter Campaigns

A tremendous crowd packed into the conference room at the Wiregrass United Way office in Dothan creating a standing room only event. Ninety-two area businesses are getting a jump start on the annual United Way campaign. These businesses are the Pacesetters for this year. Last year the Pacesetter campaign, the Wiregrass United Way, contributed more than $820,356 to the Wiregrass United Way.

Each year a number of area businesses agree to conduct their campaign for the Wiregrass United Way during the month of August. These businesses make up the Pacesetter campaign.

A special Pacesetter kickoff was held on Tuesday, August 1st at the Wiregrass United Way office in Dothan. It was a standing room only crowd who heard from Mike Schmitz, overall Campaign Chairman of the Wiregrass United Way this year. He stressed to those in attendance the importance of supporting the Wiregrass United Way and these 37 agencies. During his remarks he also urged each company represented to raise more than they did last year so to meet a goal but to help make a difference in our community.

Kimberly Kaminski of Enterprise shared her experience of being a United Way volunteer earlier this year. Kimberly will be a sophomore at Troy University this fall. When her fellow students headed to the beach for Spring Break this year, Kimberly headed to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. She applied and was accepted into Storm Corps. This was a joint effort between United Way of America and MTV. She was one of 100 college students selected to participate. They spent the week gutting houses that had been devastated by Hurricane Katrina. She closed her remarks by challenging everyone in attendance to start this year's campaign with their heads held high and with the attitude of knowing not only will you make goal, but you will surpass it.

Susan Holmes, Executive Director of the American Red Cross Wiregrass Chapter talked about her agency and its impact locally and in the region. Prior to the meeting everyone had an opportunity to view the Emergency Response Vehicle (ERV) that is owned by the American Red Cross national office but kept in Dothan due to its proximity to the coast.

Pacesetters are vital to the success of the campaign. First of all, by having a Pacesetter campaign it enables the Wiregrass United Way to stretch the campaign another month but to do so on the front end. The United Way's goal is to complete all area campaigns by the end of October to avoid raising money during the holidays. In addition, by having a Pacesetter campaign there is already a significant amount of money raised when the official campaign kickoff is held on September 7th.

Numerous volunteers are already committed to assist Mike Schmitz with the campaign. These include county campaign chairs, division chairs, loaned executives and campaign coordinators within
